Private International Law – Which Substantive Law?

- Starting point
 - Law of state of forum (lex fori) -> its conflict rules
- Sources of private international law
 - National laws
 - Example Austria: Austrian Conflict of Laws Act (IPRG)
 - EU law supersedes national law (primacy!)
 - Rome I Regulation (contractual obligations; superseded Rome Convention and – to a large extent – Austrian IPRG)
 - Rome II Regulation (non-contractual obligations; superseded Austrian IPRG)
 - Rome III Regulation (Divorce)
- USA
 - Restatement Second of Conflict of Laws (relevant is the

Rome I Regulation: Rules of Private Int'l Law

- The Rome I Regulation sets out the rules that the courts apply to determine which law applies to contractual obligations. Under this Regulation, a contract is normally governed by the law chosen by the parties.
- However, your agreed choice of law can be displaced in the following situations:
 - where there are mandatory legal rules in the place where the dispute is being heard,
 - or in a country connected to the dispute

www.dbj.at

Rome I Regulation: Rules of Private Int'l Law

- Where the parties to an agreement have not expressed a choice, the Rome I Regulation sets out specific rules to determine the governing law for certain types of contract.
- In general, this will be the law of the country where the party who is to carry out the contract is habitually resident.

www.dbj.at

Rome I Regulation: Rules of Private Int'l Law

- List of choice of law rules for specific contracts (Art 4 (1))
 - Sale of goods: law of country where seller is domiciled
 - Provision of services: law of country where provider is domiciled
 - Rights in rem: law of country where property is located
- Default rule: Characteristic performance (Art 4 (2)) that the other party is paying for
- 2 escape rules: Principle of closer/closest connection (Art 4 (3) & (4))
- Rome I directly designates substantive law: No renvoi (Art 20)
- Refusal against application: if against ordre public (Art 21)
- Scope of application
 - Civil and commercial law matters
 - Exclusions (Art 1 (2))
 - Status or legal capacity (but see Art 13; Austria: sec 12, 9 and 10 IPRG)

www.dbj.at Agency (Austria: sec 49 IPRG)

- Forum and arbitration agreements (see Brussels I

Rome I Regulation allows choice of law

- Clauses are valid for
 - Choice of substantive law (for whole contract or only for parts)
 - Choice of procedural law only for arbitral proceedings
 - Negative choice possible (e.g. exclusion of CISG although the contract is a sale of goods; Note: CISG needs to be explicitly excluded!)
- Requirements for a valid choice of law clause in a contract
 - Expressly or clearly demonstrated by terms of contract
 - If the law of a specific state is chosen, while all facts of the dispute were realized in a different state, the mandatory provisions of law of the latter one cannot be overruled (Art 3 (3); similar provision re European law in Art 3 (4))
 - Exceptions for consumers (Art 6) and employees (Art 8)
- Form requirement
 - No mandatory form requirements
 - But written agreement is advisable

www.dbj.at

Rome II Regulation: Non-Contractual Obligations

- Scope: Tort (including product liability and unfair competition), unjust enrichment, negotiorum gestio, culpa in contrahendo
 - General rule for tort (Art 4 (1)): Substantive law of country where damage occurs
 - Exception I (Art 4 (2)): Both parties domicile in same country when damage occurs
 - Exception II (Art 4 (3)): Manifestly more closely connected with different country
 - Special rules for product liability, unfair competition etc
 - Unjust enrichment (Art 10) and negotiorum gestio (Art 11)
 - Law governing existing relation between parties
 - Or exception I or II above
 - Culpa in contrahendo (Art 12)
 - Law governing the contract

International Dispute Resolution – The Dispute

- Viennese Hotel orders 200 fridges from U.S. producer
- Dispute arises as fridges are not functioning
- Jurisdiction clause (venue clause): Order form reads: „... Vienna, Inner City“
- Governing Law: No choice of law clause (or: "This contract shall be governed by Swiss law")
